

Press- and media policy

DRI Rubber/ De Ruijter International B.V. attaches great importance to a good and professional working relationship with the media. Therefore, DRI Rubber has come up with the following press- and media policy.

Media guideline

Interview- and other media requests (including a more detailed explanation of the request) for management and all other staff members within the organization of DRI Rubber/ De Ruijter International B.V. have to be submitted by contacting Robert de Ruijter, owner and CEO, via email: robert@drirubber.com. DRI Rubber attempts to answer each request as soon as possible.

DRI Rubber reserves to right to:

- Review interview questions beforehand
- Review and (when considered necessary) edit media productions before publication.

Textual media productions must be sent to Robert de Ruijter, at least three working days before publication. DRI Rubber strives to review these as soon as possible. Not following our press- and media policy, can lead to later publishing dates, or not getting permission to publish at all.

News- and press releases

If DRI Rubber deems it necessary to share important news to all media and (other) relevant parties, this will happen by sending news- and press releases. Generally, news- and press releases will also be published on the DRI Rubber website: www.drirubber.com.

Latest update press- and media policy: June 2024.*

**DRI Rubber reserves the right to change its press- and media policy, when considered necessary.*
